The StrongHER Daily Strength Program

Full Body Training for Women (2–4 Days/Week)

Before You Begin:

This is not a punishment. This is you returning to yourself.

You are not here to “start over.”

You are not behind.

You are not doing this to fix your body — you are learning to feel good in it again.

Your only goals during these workouts:

- Move slow
- Breathe steady
- Notice your strength

You don't have to push to your limit.

You only need to show up — consistently

This program is here to help you:

- Build confidence rep by rep
- Strengthen the muscles that support your posture & joints
- Feel calmer in your body
- Create energy that lasts all day
- Reconnect with discipline in a kind way

StrongHER means:

Soft heart. Strong body.

Steady progress — not burnout.

Let's begin.

How to Choose Your Weights (RPE Guide)

You don't have to guess or "go heavy."
Use this simple strength scale so your body
feels safe and capable:

| RPE         | How It Feels           | What To Do                              |
|-------------|------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| 6 Out Of 10 | Could do ~4 more reps  | Perfect for new movements or warm-ups   |
| 7 Out Of 10 | Could do 3 more reps   | Ideal for most sets in this program     |
| 8 Out Of 10 | Could do 1–2 more reps | Use only when movement feels controlled |
| 9 Out Of 10 | Almost failure         | Not necessary — skip this for now       |

How to pick your weight:

- If you finish the set and it felt too easy → Increase weight slightly next time.
- If your form breaks or you lose your breath → Drop weight or reps.
- If you're not sure → Choose the lighter option. You'll progress faster that way.

You're not chasing exhaustion.
You're building confident control.

StrongHER Form & Breathing Basics

Your Setup for Every Movement:

1. Feet gripping the ground
2. Chest up (not down)
3. Shoulders back and down (not squeezed up)
4. Head looking straight
5. Belly Button pulled in when possible

Your Breath Pattern:

- Inhale when you reset or lower
- Exhale when you press, lift, or stand
- Slow. Steady. No rushing.

Small Win I Noticed Today:

Notes / What Felt Good:

What Progress Looks Like (Even Before the Scale Moves)

*Progress is happening even when you can't see it yet.
Your body is learning to feel safe again.*

You are getting stronger if you notice:

- Movements feel smoother
- You recover faster afterward
- You stand taller without thinking about it
- You can breathe easier through sets
- You feel calmer in your body
- You show up on days you don't feel perfect

These wins matter more than reps.

Your strength is coming back.
Your confidence is building.
Keep going.

How to Progress Week by Week

*Small, steady adjustments lead to real strength.
You don't have to do more — just a little better each week.*

You don't need to change everything to see results.
Just choose one of these each week:

Option 1: Add 2–5 lbs to one lift

Option 2: Add 1–2 reps to one exercise

Option 3: Add 1 extra set to one movement

Option 4: Move 1% slower with better control

Progress is repetition — not “doing more.”

If you improved even one rep, felt more steady, or noticed easier breathing — that's progress.

A little better, the same way, over time is how you get stronger.

You're Doing Great

Your strength is returning — slowly, steadily, at your pace.

You're not behind.
Nothing is wrong with you.
Your body just needed time to feel safe again.
Every rep you do — even the light ones —
is you coming back home to your body.

Remember the StrongHER Principles:

- Move slow
- Breathe steady
- Choose control over intensity
- Stop before your form breaks
- Build confidence rep by rep

You don't have to prove anything.
You're learning to feel strong again.
